

May/June 2010

PARK YOURSELF HERE

Commitmentphobes, we have found you the pied-à-terre of your dreams—complete with full kitchen, living room, and concierge. One block away from Central Park and Fifth Avenue shopping, AKA Central Park is a luxury hotel that specializes in stays of a week or more. An alternative to the impersonal hotel-room route for business travelers and long-term visitors (including media types and actors filming on location), AKA lets you slip in and out like you own the place—without signing a long-term lease, scrubbing your tub, or making your own bed. Other AKA hotels in Manhattan give visitors a home away from home on Times Square, Sutton Place, and near the United Nations. hotelaka.com